Sara Milonovich and Daisycutter is a band of adventurous luminaries from the many and varied music scenes of New York. They've been described as "acoustic and electric, agnostic and eclectic", but it's much more than that and trickier to pin down- a little roots-rock, a bit of oldtime-newgrass, flavors of world-beat jazz... it's alt-folk, alt-country, alt-pop, alt-all!

"A deft mix of literate folk, plaintive balladry, and plenty of modern-day ass-kicking." -Chronogram

"There's more bubbling under the surface than meets the eye... a feel-good, all-inclusive vibe almost guaranteed to bring a smile to one's face." -Roll Magazine
